2020 Youth Tour ambassadors named

In June, hundreds of electric co-ops across the country send participants to Washington, D.C., for a chance to learn about the cooperative business model and a full week of sightseeing. Participants will have a chance to meet with their elected officials and discuss the issues that are important to them. Lower Yellowstone Rural Electric Cooperative (LYREC) is proud to announce it will be sending three students on the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association annual Youth Tour to Washington, D.C.

The winners are: Keela Kary, Logan Nelson and Abigail Hecker. Keela, daughter of Eric and Kori Kary, is a sophomore at Sidney High School. Logan, son of Jason and Angie Nelson, is a junior at Savage High School. Abigail, daughter of Bill and Beth Hecker, is a sophomore and is homeschooled.

One of LYREC's cooperative principles is "education, training and information." LYREC wholeheartedly believes in investing in our young members.

"The students who have participated in the past have returned home with a deeper understanding of what it takes to be a leader and have put these skills to use right here in our community," says Member Service Manager Jami Propp.

These three students were chosen because of their contribution to their community and well-written essays. They will join 30 other students from Montana in June to embark on the weeklong Electric Cooperative Youth Tour. Congratulations Keela, Logan, and Abigail! ■

Doing good through Operation Round Up

“To move forward, you have to give back.” This quote from Oprah Winfrey reflects the special bond and obligation that ties Lower Yellowstone Rural Electric Cooperative (LYREC) to the communities we serve.

We know when we helped to bring electricity to rural Montana/North Dakota many years ago, the quality of life improved for all. Through the years, other issues needed to be tackled, and we have been at the forefront of helping to address some of those issues. We want to help meet the long-term needs of our community to ensure it continues to thrive - because just like you, we live here, too.

One of the ways LYREC gives back is by implementing Operation Round Up (ORU). ORU is a simple and rewarding way for its members to help support organizations throughout our community. On average, a member donates $6 a year or 50 cents a month to ORU. During the last quarter of 2019, the ORU board of trustees awarded $4,050 to nonprofits and community organizations.

While our top priority is to provide safe, reliable and affordable energy to you, equally important is our mission to enrich the lives of the members we serve. This focus to benefit the larger community is central to the way we operate as a cooperative. LYREC knows that electricity is a critical need for modern-day life, but it takes more than poles and power lines to make a community.

Over time, our co-op has evolved to meet the changing needs of our community, thereby improving the quality of life for everyone. It can mean programs for youth, such as education scholarships or the electric cooperative Youth Tour. It means organizing coat and food drives or contributing to Operation Round Up - and we couldn't do any of this without you, our members.

We all benefit from these programs, because of you and your neighbors. You empower LYREC through your membership and through your participation in and support of these programs. As a local business, we are proud to power your life and bring good things to our community. By working together, we are certain that we can continue to do good things for our community. ■

Jenny Rice is presented $500 for St. Michael's Catholic Church by ORU Trustee Jan Bloesser. The funds will assist with the cost of landscaping.
